This week was double the fun with not one, but two birthdays to celebrate. A big happy birthday to our awesome birthday boys, Ollie and Eru, we hope your special days were filled with laughter, love, and plenty of cake.

Ollie's crew from Churchill hit the road for a trip to D Town, topping the night off with a yummy birthday dinner. Meanwhile, Eru was spoiled with a delicious dinner and cake with his Waihue whānau, before heading off on holiday adventures with his mum and whanau.

Andy's girl Marist trotted off for a little paw-dicure and makeover on Thursday and came back looking fur-bulous! With her fresh new look and a stylish jacket to match, she was strutting her stuff around the place, turning heads and tails alike. Marist was the ulti-mutt fashionista, looking as suave as can be and clearly loving the attention she got from everyone.

The team at the depot have outdone themselves once again! They've been busy hand-crafting stunning platters and chopping boards, now proudly available at the Matakohē Kauri Museum. Each piece is not only practical but also a truly remarkable work of art, showcasing the skill and creativity of our crew.
