On the 3rd of July, we closed the doors to the depot, packed ourselves into the vans, and headed north for a well-deserved day out together.

Our first stop was the magnificent Tāne Mahuta, where we were welcomed by a Department of Conservation staff member who shared the history and cultural significance of this incredible taonga. It was a special experience to stand beneath the giant kauri before continuing our journey.

Next, we made our way to Opononi for a delicious lunch of fish and chips.

With full bellies and plenty of laughs, we were ready for our final stop at Ngāwhā Springs.

The warm mineral pools were the perfect place to relax and unwind. Those who didn't want to soak enjoyed spending time together in the café, chatting over a hot drink while everyone else enjoyed the springs.

The day was a great example of Kotahitanga—our value of unity, together we all grow as one. It was wonderful to spend time together outside of work, strengthen our connections, and create lasting memories.

A huge thank you to everyone who came along and helped make it such an enjoyable day. We can't wait for the next adventure!

Toitū te marae a Tāne-Mahuta, Toitū te marae a Tangaroa, Toitū te tangata.
If the land is well and the sea is well, the people will thrive.

Sometimes it's the simple things that bring the biggest smiles. The day programme was filled with fun, laughter, and creativity as everyone enjoyed decorating Super Wine biscuits with colourful icing before, of course, eating their delicious creations! It was a great way to spend time together, share a few laughs, and enjoy a tasty treat.

Tyson recently had a special visit from his uncle and friend, who came to see all the amazing mahi Tyson has been doing.

They were incredibly impressed with Tyson's achievements and the progress he has made. During the visit, they also stopped by Waihue so Tyson could proudly show his uncle around his home. It was a wonderful opportunity to share a glimpse of Tyson's life at Greenways. We always love welcoming whānau for visits and celebrating the achievements of the people we support together.
